THOUSANDS WILL ATTEND MEET AT OREGON SATURDAY

Republican Rally and Barbecue Biggest of Kind in Illinois

Thousands of voters are expected to attend the great Republican rally and barbecue at the Ogle county fair grounds in Oregon tomorrow, which will open an intensive campaign to be waged in this part of Illinois, and which will feature addresses by Col. Frank Knox and Rep. Richard J. Lyons, Republican candidates for United States Senator. Barbecuing of two tons of beef started at 10 o'clock this morning and it will be ready for serving at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning. Thirty thousand buses have been ordered for the affair.

Afternoon Program.
Talks by state and district candidates will start at 1 P. M. They will be climaxed with an address by Richard J. Lyons, Republican nominee for the U. S. senate.

The afternoon program also will include nine acts by radio station WJJD entertainers from Chicago and music by a large number of bands and drum corps.

The evening program will start at 7 o'clock. Col. Knox's address will be broadcast from 8 to 8:30. Following his talk, the barbecue and Constitution day program will be climaxed with a brilliant fireworks display.

An airplane equipped with a loud speaker capable of being heard for five miles has been advertising the Ogle county barbecue in many parts of the state. The event is sponsored by the Ogle County Republican central committee and Republican nominees are co-operating in making it one of the biggest of its kind in the country.

NO "ONE-MAN RULE."

Chicago, Sept. 16.—(AP)—A. K. Stiles, chairman of the Republican state central committee, issued a statement from headquarters here in which he said that Illinois voters in the November 8 election "will do the New Deal exactly what Maine, Maryland and Georgia did to it this week."

"Encouraging reports we have received from all over the state make us certain that the trend is definitely away from the New Deal in Illinois," he said last night.

"The president has said that he had a mandate from the people to continue his experimentation," the statement said. "That mandate did not come from 17 million Republicans. Now his own party has given him another kind of mandate—conclusive proof of a change. Each successive state election has refused to follow one-man rule in America."

Horner Proclaims "Constitution Day"

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Describing the federal Constitution as a "bulwark that insures a maximum of human liberty," Governor Horner today designated Saturday as "constitution day."

"Our federal constitution, the great charter of our liberties, guarantees to all of us the right of life, liberty, the pursuit of happiness and the protection of our civil integrity," the governor said in his proclamation.

"It is a protection and a shield for all citizens alike, at all times and under all circumstances, and is not the exclusive instrument of any single group or class. It should never be subverted to use for partisan and selfish purposes."

65,000 New Youths Enrolled for CCC

Washington, Sept. 16.—(AP)—The Civilian Conservation Corps announced today it would enroll about 65,000 new men in a replacement program from Oct. 1 to 20.

The men will fill vacancies caused by the departure of present enrollees who have accepted private employment or whose terms have expired. The replacements will bring the strength of the corps back to the authorized 300,000, exclusive of Indians and territorials.

James J. McEntee, acting director, said 1,500 CCC camps would operate for the remainder of the fiscal term. Some locations will be changed.

Loss Reported

The Illinois Central Railroad Co. is preparing to apply to the Illinois Commerce Commission for permission to abandon passenger trains 129 and 130 between Freeport and Clinton, Ill., according to Train Master J. F. Sharkey of Freeport, who was a business visitor in Dixon today. He states that heavy inroads by private automobiles and bus and truck lines resulted in a loss of $27,000 in operation of the trains in 1937. If permission to abandon the trains is granted the company plans to provide mixed train service as a substitute for the passenger trains.

FESTIVAL PARADE AT POLO DEPICTS HISTORICAL DAYS

Colorful Pageant Will Be Repeated Tonight in Torchlight

These are fall festival days at Polo as the community and visitors enjoy the two-day project of which the Polo Federated Woman's club, sponsor of the events, may well be proud.

Yesterday afternoon the longest and best parade the town has ever seen passed through the business district amazing and delighting all those who witnessed it. Over fifty floats passed in review before judges' stand in a parade also including bands, clowns, implements and cars which lasted fully an hour.

"A Pageant of America" was the theme of the parade, and for ingenuity and cleverness all of the floats were outstanding. Mrs. Loren Landis was chairman of the parade committee, and to her belongs much of the credit for its complete success.

The pageant will be repeated tonight at 8 o'clock in a torchlight display. The city's street lights will be turned out and only red flares will throw light on the colorful march of history through the years.

Order of Parade

The order of the parade yesterday was as follows and will be the same tonight: Polo Municipal band playing "Stars and Stripes Forever," with Miss Marcella Markle as drum major; "Heap Big Indian Chief," Mayor Fred Stahlner with Indians acting as escorts, Price Heckman and R. ## STRONG DEMANDS MADE ON CZECHS BY NAZI LEADER

Issues Virtual Order for German Protectorate Over the Republic

BY LOUIS P. LOCHNER
(Copyright, 1938, by The Associated Press)

Berlin, Sept. 16.—Adolf Hitler was said today to have demanded both cession to Germany of Czechoslovakia's Sudeten area and binding assurance that Czechoslovakia's foreign policy should be in harmony with Germany's.

This information was volunteered by a man who talked to high chancellery officials at Berchtesgaden, where Hitler received Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain yesterday.

(Czechoslovakia has defensive alliances with France and Soviet Russia, which is a target of the German-Italian-Japanese anti-Communism pact.)

Another German demand, this source said, was that after German absorption of the Czechoslovak Sudeten area, what is left of that republic should fit itself into Germany's economic system, at least to the extent that Czechoslovakia did not hinder realization of German economic aims.

Decisive Word are Munitions
Germany, for instance, must have the decisive word to say on the output of the great Skoda munitions works at Pilsen and the destination of this output, the source said.

The question of union of the Sudeten area with Germany, this informant said, is not even regarded as an issue by Hitler.

It was said to have been Hitler's starting point in discussions, with all other questions, such as procedure under which the change could be effected, without war, growing out of it.

Chamberlain, it was said, apparently came prepared to concede some form of "anschluss."

Couple, Victims of Hard Luck, Found in Box Car Here Today

Clarence Westerfield, 55-year-old electrician, was reported to have built a fire in a box car in the NorthWestern yards this morning to prepare breakfast for himself, his wife and two dogs. Police were called and learned that the Westerfields were attempting to reach Sioux City, Iowa, after a three weeks journey from Niagara Falls, N. Y. They had all their belongings packed in five boxes.

Westerfield told Chief Van Bibber that he had been a victim of hard luck and his wife and their two dogs were attempting to reach Sioux City by riding freight trains. They had been staying in box cars in the local railroad yards for the past two days, and were advised to continue their western journey today.

Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Speaking of accommodations for kibitzers—

The platform, which will be inside the fence around the building site and will afford spectators protection from flying debris, was ordered erected after kibitzers complained when the contractor fenced the excavation site.

INVESTIGATION BY OGLE COUNTY OFFICERS ASKED

At the inquest into the death of Raymond Buchanan of this city which was opened yesterday afternoon at Rockford, the coroner's jury empaneled by Dr. Warren C. Ives, Winnebago county coroner, recommended that the Ogle county authorities continue an investigation into the automobile accident early Sunday morning which cost the life of the Dixon youth. The crash occurred about three miles north of Oregon near Mud Creek when the car in which Clarence Keckler, 22, lived near Oregon and Raymond Buchanan were passengers.

The car crashed into a concrete retaining wall, pinning the Dixon youth in the wreckage. He died a few hours later at St. Anthony's hospital at Rockford where he and Keckler were taken for treatment.

The driver of the car was reported to have testified at the inquest that he had had "two beers and two gins" during the evening but insisted he was sober at the time of the accident. In explanation of how he lost control of the car, Keckler replied that he became sleepy while driving at a speed of about 55 miles an hour.

Coroner Refuses to Go to Paw Paw to Hold Inquest Until His Transportation is Provided For

Situation is Result of Long Dispute With Co. Board

Dr. Kenyon B. Segner, Lee county coroner, today refused to go to Paw Paw to conduct an inquest over the body of an aged lady who passed away during the night, until county officials furnished him with means of transportation to make the trip. The coroner notified the attending physician that an inquest was required, when notified this morning of the death, then attempted to secure transportation to Paw Paw and return.

Dr. Segner stated that he had requested the board of supervisors yesterday afternoon to provide him with a car to be used in answering coroner's calls and added that he received no satisfaction, the board adjourning before taking any action.

"I am going to sit tight until the matter is cleared up," Dr. Segner stated early this afternoon. "The members of the county board were in such a haste to receive their own mileage and per diem that they paid little or no attention to my request, and while I regret the entire situation, I am going to have a show down."

Counsel Absent.

The coroner stated that some members of the county board had suggested that he make arrangements to have one of Sheriff Ward Miller's deputies use one of the sheriff's cars in transporting him to inquests, but that no action was taken on this suggestion. The state's attorney was out of the city and the coroner maintained that he was unable to communicate with Chairman Henry Gehant of the board of supervisors, who was in Chicago today. Supervisor Henry Knetisch of Wyoming township the coroner stated, refused to intervene or to provide transportation, and the coroner's counsel was also absent from the city, he said.

Dr. Segner's refusal to respond to the call to Paw Paw today followed a long dispute with the board of supervisors over expenses and fees, which resulted recently in the filing of a mandamus proceeding in the circuit court in an attempt to compel the board to take action.

His Car Damaged.

Coroner Segner maintained that his car, which he has used in conducting inquests since his election, was damaged one week ago today while he was driving to Franklin Grove, and that he was without a car with which to drive to Paw Paw to conduct the inquest. He also stated that he had notified the registrar at Paw Paw not to issue a death certificate until the inquest was held, adding that the undertaker could not legally embalm the body without permission from the coroner.

One Dead, 15 Sick from Food Poison

Chicago, Sept. 16.—(AP)—The illness of 15 persons in suburban Elmwood Park as the result of food poisoning was disclosed by Police Captain Charles E. Woods today as an inquest was opened into the death of Earl Bennisson, 52.

Bennisson's physician, Dr. S. L. Hadden, attributed the death to food poisoning. He said five other members of the family were ill, all stricken Tuesday night after eating a chocolate pastry.

Captain Woods estimated from reports that the sick totaled 25, with 15 of them confined to bed. The source of the food was being investigated by Dr. James Noxon, village health officer.

Warren Bennisson, a son, testified at the inquest his father became sick after dinner, became much worse today and died en route to a hospital. The inquest was continued to October 4 to permit completion of the post mortem examination.

Treasury's Income Since July is

Over Billion 750 Millions Short

Washington, Sept. 16.—(AP)—The treasury disclosed today its income for the fiscal year which began July 1 has passed $1,000,000,000, but was $750,381,553 short of expenditures in the same period.

Due to the business recession and the administration's spending program revenue is lagging behind and expenditures are ahead of last year. On September 14, treasury receipts amounted to $1,098,549,838 compared with $1,119,337,833 in the comparable period of last year. Meanwhile expenditures for the two and one-half months reached a total of $1,758,931,391, or about $225,000,000 more than in the corresponding weeks of last year.

The deficit will decline temporarily in the next few days due to collection of September 15 income tax payments.

More than half of the deficit so far this year was caused by WPA expenditures totaling $452,187,215. WPA, which now is supporting a record payroll of more than 3,000,000 persons, spent only $278,581,342 in the similar period last year.

EYSTON SPEEDS AT RATE OF 357 MILES AN HOUR

Regains Auto Records Usurped by Countryman Yesterday

Bonneville Salt Flats, Utah, Sept. 16.—(AP)—The world's automobile speed record tumbled again today as Capt. George E. T. Eyston regained the title John R. Cobb usurped yesterday. The new mark is 357.50 miles per hour.

Eyston, retired British army officer, drove his powerful "Thunderbolt" through the mile at 356.44 miles per hour on the north run, and returned at 358.57 to displace Cobb's record of 350.20.

Eyston, who hoisted his own average from 311.42 to 345.49 on August 29 only to see the achievement usurped by his compatriot, obviously held back until the chips were down.

Cobb announced he was through racing for this year, and congratulated his rival. He said his car had been built for a definite objective (presumably 350 miles per hour) and that he had attained it. Eyston, however, said he might try again next week to better his own mark.

Eyston, black from brake dust and exhaust smoke, smiled boyishly when informed he had once more ascended the coveted world speed throne.

Witnessed by 5,000

A crowd of 5,000 persons, largest ever to assemble on the dry lake bed on the Utah-Nevada border, cheered wildly.

Several airplanes hovered overhead during the run. Hundreds of American Legionnaires, en route to their national convention at Los Angeles, stopped off to watch. The captain also smashed Cobb's kilometer record, lifting the mark from 350.07 miles per hour to 357.34.

"It was the most pleasant run I've ever made," Eyston said. "On the return, however, it got devilish hot in the cockpit because I closed in the front of the car and I didn't get the benefit of a radiator. Using a mixture to prevent freezing, water and dry ice in the radiator, worked admirably."

"I haven't made any plans to leave yet," he grinned.

Cobb slept in nearby Wendover while his title was falling.

Eyston's "Thunderbolt" was remodeled after the initial run this season. The tail fin was taken off, and the nose blunted.

U. S. Treasury

Washington, Sept. 16.—(AP)—The position of the treasury on September 14. Receipts $29,432,803.30; expenditures, $18,241,268.68; net balance $2,180,746,231.09, including $1,582,284,412.71 working balance; customs receipts for the month, $12,840,889.63.

Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1), $1,098,549,838.57; expenditures, $1,758,931,391, including $560,675,131.18 of emergency expenditures; excess of expenditures, $750,381,553.21; gross debt, $37,637,953,328.09, a decrease of $153,756.19 below the previous day; gold assets $13,420,568,501.42

Think Way Still Open.

Belief was expressed here that Czechoslovakia measures definitely had eliminated the chance of a plebiscite but that the way to peaceful solution still was open.

This was far different from the gloom of last night after Hitler's own newspaper, the Volkischer Beobachter, had referred to Prague's martial law as an "open declaration of war on the German people," and had said "it would be irresponsible for us to stand by idle any longer."

Strikes, sabotage and bloodshed continued among the Sudeten Germans of Czechoslovakia, whose leader, Konrad Henlein, had fled before a government decision to arrest him for treason because of a defiant manifesto demanding union of the Sudeten German area with Germany.

The manifesto apparently ended all negotiations for peace.

ORGAN DEDICATED

Sunday morning services at the M. E. church were both inspirational and spiritual. Dr. Ralph Pierce, Joliet-Dixon Dist. Supt. preached from the 33rd Psalm, "A New Song." The new pipe organ was used for the first time since its completion and the choir of 20 voices, with Miss Alene Strouss as director and Mrs. Helen Wheeler as organist provided some very fine music. At 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon the organ was officially dedicated in the presence of more than 450 people from the community surrounding territory and many out of town visitors. Clifford Hill on behalf of the board of trustees of the church presented the organ and it was most enthusiastically accepted by Reverend W. T. Street for the church. A very interesting program of music and short talks by various ministers followed. Mrs. Helen Wheeler, the regular church organist played three opening selections before the services began, "Adoration" from the "Holy City," "Minuet in G" by Beethoven, and "London-derry Air," hymn arrangement. Mrs. Dorothy Langford played "The Pilgrim's Chorus" from "Tannhauser" by Wagner and Crawford Thomas, organist for the M. E. church at Dixon played "Toccata" by Bach "Berceuse" and Mrs. Wheeler played, "To a Wild Rose" and the recessional was a march by Petrall. Talks were given by Rev. A. W. Otis of DeKalb, who was the pastor when the church was dedicated. Rev. Harry E. Miles of Morrison, a former Baptist minister, Rev. John Bischoff, pastor of the Red Oak Evangelical church and Rev. E. C. Pope of Sandwich who is pastor of the M. E. churches of Sandwich and Leland. Rev. Roy Ford of the Christian church pronounced the benediction. It was through the generosity of the Baptist church which was once a part of the community life of Walnut that this organ was made a reality. When the Baptist church decided, because of the limited membership to discontinue its worship they presented to the M. E. church a sum of money which was the nucleus of the organ fund. The plan and design of this organ fits so perfectly and harmoniously in the space of the choir loft that it can almost be said it was made for that special purpose. The mechanical structure, namely the wind chests and pipes are all concealed and made noiseless, only the grills, chimneys and console are visible. Words are in adequate in the description of the rich beauty both in decoration and in architecture. The panels and console harmonize so perfectly one does not realize but that both are of walnut wood construction.

Y. P. M. C. RALLY

The Young People's Missionary circle of the Red Oak church attended a rally at the Perkins Grove church on Tuesday evening. The Missionary societies are studying India and a unique and interesting program was carried out. The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. J. V. Bischoff of Perkins Grove and at 6 o'clock the young people were invited to the dining room which presented a colorful picture. Draperies and tapestries of Indian origin were placed about the room and rugs on the floor. The Indians ceremonial of washing the left hand because it is unclean was carried out before the guests were seated on straw mats. The food, consisting of curried rice, tea and other Indian dishes was partaken of without knives or forks. Mrs. L. H. Segar returned thanks after the 60 guests were seated. During the feast a short program was presented. Miss Pauline Mossholder gave an Indian legend as told by an Indian fortune teller. Miss Ruth Swingle was toastmistress and she also gave "Indian Music" with Miss Eleanor Althaus at the piano. Helen Faber sang two solos. Miss Alice Smith gave an "introduction to India," Miss Allen Stewart gave "Jyoti," a monologue of an Indian bride. A short drama, "Three Knocks in the Night," by Eleanor Althaus and June Erbes. Mrs. L. H. Segar gave a short talk. The late L. H. Segar was bishop of the Evangelical church and made several world tours in the interests of missions. The song "India our India" to the tune of "America, the Beautiful" closed the program during the dinner hour.

The young people were invited to the main auditorium for the evening service to which the public was invited. A song and prayer by Rev. John Schaeffer opened the meeting. The Red Oak group sang, "Onward Upward." Ralph Nielson, a tenor solo, "O How I Love Him." Mrs. Segar then gave a lecture on their trip around the world and of the mission stations they visited in China and Japan. A closing song and benediction by Rev. J. W. Bischoff of Red Oak closed this very inspirational and beneficial meeting. Groups of young people from Dixon, Mendota, Red Oak and Perkins Grove were represented. Those attending from Red Oak were Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Bischoff, Mrs. Louis Gonigam, Sr., Viona Guthrie, Mary Albrecht, Eleanor Burkey, Pearl Hopkins, Helen Gonigam, Marian Mau, Mildred Hatland, Erna Brewer, Marjorie Baumgartner, Marietta Hoffman, Marilyn Heaton and Jane Christiansen.

RECORD ENROLLMENT

Rochelle.—The Rochelle elementary schools opened September 7th with an enrollment of 463 students. This is the largest beginning enrollment recorded in the local schools in over ten years. Three new teachers have been employed. The new teachers who have been engaged for the year 1938-1939 in the elementary schools are:

Miss Arline Wills, Bloomington, supervisor of public school music. Miss Wills received her A. B. degree from Illinois Wesleyan and her M. A. degree from the American Conservatory of Music, Chicago. She has had four years experience as a teacher and a supervisor.

Miss Elsie Smith graduated from Northern Illinois State Teachers college with a Bachelor's degree. She has a major in the social sciences and a minor in home economics. Miss Smith will teach social science and home economics in the Junior high school. Miss Persida Degan, Lake Forest, graduated from the National College of Education in Evanston, with a Bachelor's degree. Her major is in primary education. Miss Degan has charge of the first grade in the Lincoln school.

Miss Ethel Stein left the Rochelle schools for the year 1937-1938 to obtain her Bachelor's degree at the Northern Illinois State Teachers' college. She is now teaching the fourth and fifth grade combination room of the Lincoln school.

Considering the fact that the schools are forced to operate on half-day sessions and the children are housed in many different locations, little confusion was in evidence during the first week of school. With desks, tables, books, instrumental and janitorial supplies stored in different places throughout the city, the orderly manner in which the children were registered and assigned to classes speaks well for the organization of personnel.

Present indications are that the children of the Central school will be able to move into their new building during the last week of September. Every effort is being made to complete the work at that time.

The amount of aircraft manufactured in the United States the first half of 1938 was approximately 22 per cent greater than that for the same period last year, according to production figures made public by the Civil Aeronautics Authority.

THE GLAD TYDINGS

It takes a long time to bring the past up to the present, as President Roosevelt has said, even in up-to-date Maryland. The people of Maryland, by a decisive majority, renominated Senator Tydings, who was rejected by the president as a non-conformist, and rejected David J. Lewis, the president's pet.

What Roosevelt meant was that he wants the past brought up to tomorrow, and the people of Maryland are afraid of that. They want a senator who will represent them today, and not be a yesser when the president might be disposed to bring around a new batch of court packing and reorganization bills to be rubber stamped.

The Marylanders know it might be hard to get a man who thinks in terms of tomorrow back to a point where he could deal with actualities.

Georgians evidently think the same way.

MISS PERKINS THREATENED

Madam Secretary Perkins of the department of labor, which has charge of the job tossing out alien communists under the deportation law, has been threatened with steps toward impeachment unless she deports Harry Bridges, Pacific coast labor leader. Bridges is said to be a communist.

Until this year the courts had held almost uniformly that if an alien were, or had been, a member of a communist organization, he must believe in destroying the present United States government by force or violence. So he was subject to deportation under acts of congress. The supreme court has not yet ruled directly on this interpretation.

A typical decision was that in the case of Kjar v. Doak, decided on October 18, 1932, by the Seventh circuit court of appeals. The court cited a pamphlet published by the communist-supported Workers' Library association. The pamphlet explained that in the communist ideology the proletariat would not get power by capturing the bourgeois state peacefully. The "new organs of proletarian power, to serve primarily as instruments for the suppression of the exploiters," would overthrow bourgeois power by violence and destroy the whole capitalist state apparatus—such as bourgeois armies, courts, "bureaucratic hierarchy," police, parliaments.

The court held that the several communist programs "are quite convincing that the communist party believes in and advocates the use of force and violence whenever and wherever sufficient power is present to accomplish the purpose."

The appellant contended that every individual had the inherent right of revolution. But the court explained: "Revolution presupposes an antagonism between a government and its nationals, not as between a government and aliens. As a citizen of Denmark, appellant has not right of revolution as against the United States."

But on April 6, this year, the Fifth circuit court of appeals in the Strecker case made a different interpretation of communist party membership. The appellant, an Austrian in this country since 1912, had joined the communist party just before the general elections of 1932 and had accepted certain communist literature for distribution. He stopped paying dues and ceased to be a member three months later. The charge that he advocated, or belonged to a body advocating overthrow of the government, the court declared, was a kind of "Pecksniffian righteousness savoring strongly of hypocrisy and party bigotry."

The deportation law of congress was enacted in 1918 and amended in 1920. According to the court it was intended to meet a situation caused by the Russian revolution and the ensuing propaganda to overthrow government by force. Since then much water, socially and politically, has gone under the bridge. Today Russia finds itself strongly organized and suppresses those who propose violent overthrow of the Russian government.

The communist party in the United States had in its platform in 1932 and 1936 planks calling for capture of our government by political means. No acts of congress forbid membership in any such party.

Even if the communist ideology assumes that the proletariat will have to use force to dispossess the capitalist class, the court said, that is a general position. Nothing in Strecker's membership in the communist party was aimed at the United States in particular. The government has taken an appeal to the United States supreme court.

The Strecker case, however, does not apply to Bridges if it can be proved that Bridges advocates overthrowing government by force. One of the communist tactics is to keep things stirred up, to maintain a program of strikes, violence and to try by that means to weaken respect for law and order. The Reds hope each outbreak will be the sign for a general uprising. Bridges is accused of being instrumental in such outbreaks, and he is accused of being a communist.

It is different from distributing literature, as in the Strecker case.

SUPER SHOT

Gosh, friends, that fantastic future is catching up with us.

Have you heard about the artificial hormone that two Yale University experimenters introduced the other day to the American Psychological Association? The only way to describe it is to say that it's got what it takes.

Injecting of the stuff, according to the declarations of its champions, will effect the following results: (a) do away with fits of anger, (b) calm the nerves, (c) eliminate fidgeting, (d) relieve periods of sulkiness, and (e) make the meek bold.

The list is partial. It's declared that the stuff's total effect is to "raise the level of living."

Obviously arrangements ought to be made eventually to provide every man, woman and child on this distraught planet with at least one injection, but in the meantime some very good work might be done by getting a little injection practice on: Adolf and Benito (see note "a" above); the pilots of the democracies (see "b"); the League of Nations (see "c"); business, labor and politics (see "d"); and one John Q. Citizen (see "e").

THE EXCHEQUER GOES TO SEA

The college gates begin to creak open again and thousands of dewy-eyed scholars all over the country rush eagerly into the arms of the high-pressure salesmen of the campus. Soon freshmen in droves will be signing agreements to get their suits pressed three times a week, contracting for nine months' worth of meal tickets, assigning laundry rights forever, and renting two grand pianos. But not at Princeton.

Not, that is, for the first couple of days, anyway. Bearing in mind the number of freshmen who practically throw themselves on charity before the school year is out, the college's student governing body has set up a protective arrangement which gives the new students a short period of grace in which to set up their defenses before the assault begins. In the meantime, student advisers and guides diligently study out with the students the kinds of defenses that might work.

It's doubtful if this is going to give rise to many outraged cries of "Mollycoddling!" from the old folks at home at least. As a matter of fact, it suggests that some similar set-up might not be a bad idea for the older boys and girls contemplating marriage—a kind of Newlyweds' Protective Association.

BERLIN CIRCLES ARE OPTIMISTIC

Gloomy Atmosphere Has Been Changed by Parley of Leaders

Berlin, Sept. 16. — (AP) — A more optimistic outlook for favorable settlement of the fate of Czechoslovakia's Sudeten German minority population because of talks between the British premier and Germany's chancellor prevailed today in Berlin political and diplomatic circles.

Reports of the conversations at Hitler's Berchtesgaden retreat reaching here this morning apparently caused the change from last night's gloomy atmosphere.

Generally well-informed circles said the chancellor had pointed out to Chamberlain the necessity of settling the Sudeten problem once and for all.

These circles said also that latest developments in the Sudeten regions of Czechoslovakia—fighting, the demand of Sudeten leader Konrad Henlein for annexation of the Czech German areas by Germany, and the Czech government's decision to charge him with treason—had strengthened the fuhrer's demand that if France and England were willing to do anything to preserve peace it must be done quickly.

Believe You Opened The belief was expressed here that the Czech actions definitely had ruled out any chance of a plebiscite, by which the Sudetens could vote to go under Nazi rule. But, despite this, it was felt the way had been opened for definite steps to resolve the matter finally to a decision.

A far different feeling was in away last night.

Hitler's newspaper, Voelkischer Beobachter, referred to Czechoslovakia's martial law enforcement in Sudeten land as an "open declaration of war on the German people," and continued that, in view of the many Sudeten victims, "it would be irresponsible of us to stand by idle any longer, without putting a stop to the up-roar."

BRITAIN DAZED

London, Sept. 16. — (AP) — Britain's two peace emissaries—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and Viscount Runciman—were felled today to evaluate Reichsfuehrer Hitler's price for keeping Europe's peace.

They came from opposite ends of the German-Czechoslovak crisis—the prime minister from face-to-face talks with the fuhrer and Lord Runciman from his mediation mission in Prague.

Runciman's efforts had failed to bring peace between the Czechoslovak government and 3,500,000 autonomy-demanding Sudeten Germans whom Hitler has sworn to "save."

Chamberlain, too, had come away from his momentous talk yesterday with Hitler without any indication that he had succeeded in getting terms that might avoid war.

On the contrary, there was a feeling in German circles that Hitler stood firm in his determination to make the democracies take or leave his terms.

To Draft Answer

Chamberlain flew from Munich to seek power for a bargain that would save Europe's imperiled peace. He planned to lay Hitler's demands quickly before his cabinet and draft an answer which he may hand Hitler personally next week.

A Britain dazed by the dramatic man-to-man hours on Obersalzberg veered toward the conviction that the tired, silver-haired premier would ask his ministers, the people and Britain's allies to answer these questions: Shall the nations permit Hitler by annexation or by plebiscite to throw Germany's strength around the Sudeten Germans at his frontier, whom he has sworn to "save?"

Shall the dictator nations and the democracies make an all-embracing pact to weed out the roots of war?

Whatever the German chancellor's terms, Chamberlain received them at a time when the outright demand for Anschluss by Konrad Henlein, the Sudeten German leader, and unflinching fighting among the Sudetens stiffened the Czech nation in strong steps to resist.

TOWNSEND PLAN

Oregon, Ill., Sept. 14, 1938

To the Editor

Dixon Evening Telegraph, Dixon, Illinois

Dear Sir: Your editorial under date of September 13, entitled Lord of the Noble Free shows that you are entirely ignorant of the fundamental principles of the Townsend Plan for National Recovery.

In the first place it is not a pension scheme at all but a recovery plan that will benefit the young as well as the old, bring us out of the present depression and prevent future depressions. This is the only plan devised by anyone that will pay its way as it goes and will not cost the Federal government one cent to put it in operation.

The money raised by a 2% transaction tax will be put right back into the channels of trade and must be spent for American made goods and services in a thirty day period.

As for the men between the ages of forty and sixty you are so concerned about, I am one of them and I know I will not be worrying about a job when this plan is in operation. Likewise 1,800,000 young men who are in this movement know there will be jobs for them also.

The bill does not say that any one will receive two hundred dollars a month. The bill states that it will pay whatever the transaction tax brings in up to that amount and if there is any surplus it shall be applied on the national debt and take up other forms of taxation.

You state that a man gets what he earns by producing and serving. The Townsend Plan will make it possible for a man to earn by putting his money to work for the hands of those over sixty and retiring them from industry.

The Townsend Plan will do away with paupers and poorhouses. And all through a small 2% transaction tax that any merchant would gladly pay to increase his business.

The cost of living will not be raised because the increased business will absorb the tax.

The reason we show that this is the plan the people want and its time the newspapers realized that their readers are able to think for themselves. Such editorial attacks do not help the circulation department.

In closing I want to say, investigate the Townsend Plan for national recovery and print this article in your newspaper.

Very truly yours,

B. V. Bacon,

Dear Sir: Your editorial in the September 13 issue "Land of the Noble Free" proves that you do not understand the Townsend Plan. Why not take your pencil and figure out just how little the transactions tax of 2% adds to the cost of goods. Also you don't stop to consider the great number of taxes that could be discontinued under the plan. In spite of the fact that 99% of the newspapers are trying to ridicule the Townsend Plan it is getting to be the biggest and best issue of the day.

Respectfully yours,

Walter E. Hinkle.

WOW

I HEAR THEY'VE GOT A NEW BABY AT THE SMITHS

Let's recall the days when families had a dozen or more members or at least many of them did. Fathers and mothers often prided themselves on the size of their families. In one particular family it seemed that never could they all get together at one time. Someone was missing all the time. One day when a guest came to dinner just one of the children, a little one, was present when the guest arrived. He asked the little one how many boys and girls there were in the family. The answer was, "Each girl has as many sisters as brothers and each boy has three times as many sisters as brothers." How many boys and girls were there?

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

TRADE MARK REGISTERED

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—As far as the United States is concerned, the most important development in Europe is the discussion of whether the British can rely upon our fleet in the Pacific in wartime.

This question has been discussed in some detail during recent talks between Ambassador Joe Kennedy and Prime Minister Chamberlain.

The British have made clear that Europe is merely their own backyard as an economic interest, that the British have no really important investments in Europe, while those in the Orient are vital.

Therefore, if the British are to uphold the hand of peace in Europe and risk war with Hitler, they must be given some protection from American vessels in that all-important British area, the Far East.

What further worries the Admiralty is that with most of its fleet in the North Sea and the Mediterranean, the Japanese could completely clean out British interests in China. The Japanese could withdraw their forces from the interior of China, consolidate their lines near the big seaports, which are fairly easy to defend against the Chinese, and then be free to clean up on the USA.

The British figure that the first thing the Japanese would do is to take Hongkong, chief center of British commerce in the Far East, then move down and pick up the Dutch East Indies, then take Singapore, and go on to the eastern tip of India.

The State Department's reply to this British idea of US-British cooperation in the Far East was somewhat evasive, yet it was definite enough to give the British some reason for encouragement.

The general position taken by the United States was that we are not any more anxious to see the Japanese annex the entire Far East than the British are, but that we are tied down by the fact that we cannot make advance commitments of this kind or form alliances. However, the British were reminded that public opinion works very rapidly in this country, and that the American people may become much exercised over Japanese invasion of the entire Far East.

Thus the British got the idea that this country was anxious to go as far as possible in using American ships to keep the Far East out from under the heel of the Japanese.

Dewey and Pecora Two behind-the-scenes facts about Tom Dewey's trial of Jimmy Hines, New York Tammany leader, are well worth noting.

One is that when Judge Ferdinand Pecora declared a mistrial, he threw up his own personal ambition to be a United States Senator.

Second is that Dewey is now proving what the New York legal fraternity already knew, that he is not a real lawyer.

He is slipshod, careless in presenting his law, and adopts a snooty, domineering attitude toward the bench. In his earlier racketeering trials the federal judges had a lot of sympathy with the young District Attorney and helped him along. Later, in the famous Luciano trial, he was before Judge McCook, a staunch Republican whose son is on Dewey's legal staff. McCook let the young prosecutor get away with a lot of legal methods for which other lawyers would have been stopped dead in their tracks.

Judge Pecora, however, is one of the most careful judges on the New York Supreme Court bench. Throughout the case he called Dewey dozens of times for taking short cuts, and Dewey expressed his resentment at Pecora. Once he even complained about Pecora's tone of voice. He kept telling Pe-

Answer to Question No. 1

More men than women rebound quickly from disappointments, partly because more men are extraverts and partly because they have more outside contacts that divert their minds from their troubles.

Answer to Question No. 2

This question was argued ably by President Hutchins of the University of Chicago recently. He asks—would the college graduate be more likely to get a job without his education or would he be a better citizen? Getting a job is one object but not the sole object of a college education. Furthermore, when jobs arrive—as they always have and always will—will it be the trained or untrained men who will get the jobs? While college jobs are now few and far between, there are far more non-college men seeking jobs. And in the long run the college man earns more than twice as high a salary as the non-college man. No, there are not enough young men in college.

Answer to Question No. 3

No. That is just what is the matter with him—loss of judgment. Appeal to what the man has instead of what he has not—that is, appeal to his desire for success and importance, his desire to be like other people and be approved by them, his desire to get away from his fears and inferiorities and feelings of failure. As you give these more play his judgment will improve.

FANFARE

By DON DANIELSON

Third time, they say, is a charm. Today there is a rabbit's foot in our pocket and our fingers are crossed — all for that All Stars game set for tonight at the Airport. You may be awfully sick of hearing about it again, but you'll remember that the softball All Stars, chosen by a vote of the fans, are set again to play the California Market team, champion of the city league. The game has been postponed twice now and if it doesn't come off tonight—the curtain is down on the whole business. The Ashton and Dixon girls will meet for the preliminary game at 7:15. For further details be at the Airport ballyard tonight.

With Jensen and Beyers both reported to be campus-bound, Flash Fordham is expected to be on the mound for the All Stars tonight. Flash made an excellent showing in the voting for a star pitcher and justly deserves the right to fill the shoes left empty by the lads who have been called to their books. Flash has played with the Reynolds Wire team this past season and has brushed off many a potential hitter.

The "smoothest" team he has coached at Illinois since 1934 is Bob Zupke's characterization of the 1933 Illinois, as they approach the end of their first week of practice. By "smooth" Coach Zupke means clever ball-handling. Back in 1934, with Jack Beynon, Les Lindberg, Frank Froeschauer and others who handled the football deftly, Zupke uncovered the famous "flying trapeze" play of which it was said everybody on the team handled the ball except the man with the water bucket. Zupke's greatest problem at present seems to be to locate the best end and guard possibilities. He is looking for quick-moving guards who can do their part in interference.

A short practice session was held last night for the Wildcats at Reynolds field and another one will be held tonight at 5:30 o'clock. Several of the Panthers squad have signed up to back the Old Timers for the game Sunday with the Knacks. Don Bush, Carl Becker, Kenny Hasselberg, Harry Shain and John Scriven joined the squad last night. Manager Smokey Joe requests the Old Timers to dig out their uniforms and shake out the moth balls for Sunday's affair.

It was decided at a meeting of the Sterling Township high school board this week that night football games will have to be passed up for this fall. Inability to secure materials and have the same erected in time were the reasons for the decision. Coach Ted Scheid, athletic director of the school, will rearrange the schedule of games to have them played Saturday afternoons instead of Friday nights.

Baseball in Dixon is sweeping into a colorful end of the season with two championships at stake for the Cummings clan. On Sunday afternoon at Reynolds field the Knacks will attempt to wrest the city championship crown from the Wildcats, piloted by Smokey Joe Miller. Cummings will split his interest in this game as he keeps his ear to the ground for rumblings from down Walton-way where West Brooklyn plays in the second game of the play-off of the league's three-way tie. The game here on Sunday is to be a benefit for the local Big Buddy club and besides the tempting menu of baseball the fans will be treated to drills by the various junior organizations in the city.

Dick Folk of Polo, a senior at Illinois Wesleyan university, is among the school's football lettermen returning this season to a workout with the textbooks and the pigskin ball. Dick was all-conference fullback in 1937 after winning all-conference recognition at guard the year before. He was also chosen the most valuable player in the conference by the coaches, which just about makes him the best ball player in the Illinois college conference. His most sensational showing was against DePaul, against whom he played 60 minutes of sensational football and clinched the day by score of the 7 points to win the great battle. When not studying, Dick manages a local inn.

Softball Tourney Finally Played-Off

Chicago, Sept. 16.—(AP)—The Fohlar's Cafe team from Cincinnati started home today with the men's championship of the international softball tournament while the Kriegs of Alameda, Calif., headed westward with the girls' crown.

Cincinnati and Alameda won the much postponed finals last night in a gusty drizzle in Soldier Field. Cincinnati turned back the International Harvesters of Little Rock, Ark., 2 to 1. Alameda beat Chicago's Down Drafts, 2 to 0.

The games had been scheduled originally for Monday night.

Dixon vs. Rock Falls Tomorrow

It's A Cinch: All Stars Game To Be Tonight

WHISTLE TUNED FOR SIGNAL OF GRID KICK-OFF

Dixon Team to Blast Lid Off Football Pot at Rock Falls Tomorrow

There's the whistle and the kickoff—and it's Rock Falls pitched against Dixon tomorrow afternoon on the neighbors' gridiron. The football pot which has been on fire since early in the month, has started to boil and the lid is ready to blow off tomorrow as the two teams open the season in cool weather which gives promise of being typically footballish.

Coach Lindell has been pushing his men hard all week. Literally it hasn't taken much pushing for the boys have been slipping, sliding and slithering in the deep mud of the practice field.

On the eve of the opening battle the Dixon mentor takes stock of his resources and has decided he has a "line which isn't to be sneezed at," but the backfield, he says, is one big question mark. All the lads who reported back from last year's conference-winning team have found themselves in the front line leaving the backfield as green as an early apple.

Need Good Kicker Another thing which has the local coaching staff up the proverbial tree is the matter of a good punter. Last night the Lindellmen were watched carefully for their boot work but the local hopes for a kicker didn't leap up like a frightened girl. With added pressure on the kicking activities a darkhorse may appear with a talented toe any minute, at least that's the hope.

There isn't an over-abundance of weight in the local lineup, but what beef is lacking is made up for, in some measure, by the plucky aggressiveness of the players. Christos is about the heaviest on the squad with a weight hovering around 200 net.

Looking at the Rock Falls side of the books things aren't any too cheery in the neighbors' camp, either. Graduation last June took its toll and left a number of holes for Coach Quire to plug for the 1938 brawn. The Rock Falls line will average around 165 pounds, topped by Terlizzi with his 225 pounds at left tackle.

The Rock Falls probable starting lineup for the main game has been reported as follows: Morris, le; Terlizzi, lt; Howe, lg; Young, c; Machael, rg; Bruns, rt; Smith, re; Robinson, qb; Bohlen, lbh; Higgins, rlb; and Pigmatelli, fb.

The reserve teams of Dixon and Rock Falls are scheduled to ring up the season's curtain in a game starting at 1:15. Coach Marvin Wingert is also having a little trouble deciding just who will play in the starting lineup of this preliminary battle and has mentioned the following possibilities: Gordon or Shoaf, le; Travis or Forman, lt; Dennison or Walder, lg; Valle or Coon, c; Sanford or Eastman, rg; Handell or Vaessen, rt; Gearhart or Pierce, re; Sanborn or Slothower, qb; Buxton or Lee, lbh; Brainard or Gehant, rlb; Crawford or Bay, fb.

The officials for tomorrow's games will be Messrs. Powers, Yoe and Henderson, all of Mount Morris.

FOOTBALL WAIL IS JUSTIFIED AT IOWA CITY

Chicago, Sept. 16.—(AP)—The popular, over-worked wail of the football coach might be resorted to justifiably by a fellow named Irl Tubbs in Iowa City, but he's not saying much and in that silence may lurk a warning.

The fellow named Tubbs is head coach at the University of Iowa, and what may be taken for two obvious reasons to break down and weep are an engagement just one week from tonight with U. C. L. A. in Los Angeles, and the memory of last year's Big Ten standings which show the Hawkeyes at the bottom of the heap with no victories and five losses, scoring 22 points to their conference opponents' 71.

Add to that a critical problem in the line, to wit: Who'll fill that spot at center vacated by Dick Anderson?

Add further: Fred Smith, Cedar Rapids Negro, out with a coach's nightmare—a knee injury, Curly Mann, Vinton, Iowa, guard, out for the season with a shoulder injury suffered before practice started. End Fred Smith has a leg injury. And then, just yesterday, Bill Gallagher, junior halfback and '37 letterman, and Lloyd Woodriss, sophomore back, were counted out on scholastic ineligibility.

On the sunny side, however, there's a youngster named Ross Carney from Davenport, Iowa, who, the sidelines say, will erase that center wrinkle. And Jack Edling, Moorhead, Minn., and John McCambridge, Des Moines, aren't far behind him.

There's Nile Kinnick who has been shooting swell passes and running like a demon in scrimmage from left wingback.

In the other Big Ten camps yesterday: At Chicago and Indiana, blocking drills; at Illinois and Ohio State, passing again stressed; at Purdue, northwest, Michigan and Minnesota, intensive scrimmages for all except the Wildcats who went through their first of season; at Wisconsin, a "point after touchdown" drill featured scrimmage.

TROUBLE LOOMS FOR PIRATES IN BEANTOWN YARD

Bucs Have Three-Game Lead Over Others in Merry Race

By SID FEDER

The second division actors moved front and center in the National League pennant comedy today.

In a pair of doubleheaders at Philadelphia and Boston, those also-rans, who were just along for the ride now, have a big say in the final act of the flag farce. And, if past performances are any indication, they'll probably just to kick everything top-sided, just to make it funnier.

Pittsburgh's Pirates, boasting a three-game margin as the result of the 7-2 walloping they pinned on the Giants with five homers yesterday, move into Boston for a twin bill with the buzzing Bees. The Cincinnati Reds, four games back in third place, tangle with the Phillies.

In addition to the parties of the first and second part, the developments of these bargain bills will be of particular interest to the single game get together in the Polo Grounds in New York, involving the second-place Chicago Cubs, who are only three games back and moving fast, and the Giants, who fell to fourth place yesterday.

Trouble in Boston. All signs point to trouble for the Pirates in Boston. The Bucs have won only three of eight starts in the Hub this year, and with a pitching staff handicapped by the loss of Bob Klumper, they're going to find it anything but beer and skittles knocking off Casey Stengel's crew in the Bees' own lot.

The Reds have taken five of eight games in Philadelphia, but Jimmy Wilson's pitching staff is vastly improved since the Phils moved from the Baker Bowl Bandbox to Shibe Park.

All four of the first division outfits were on hand for the Pirates-Giants party yesterday. The Cubs and Reds, with an off-day in their schedule, took a busman's holiday to sit in on the proceedings, and what they saw made it appear the Pirates are still the outfit favored to finish on top.

Waner's Homers. Paul Waner walloped two homers and "Lil Poison" Lloyd, Pep Young and Johnny Rizzo contributed one apiece in the lopsided festivities. This left the Pirates in a spot where they can play just 500 ball in their remaining 20 games, while the Cubs would have to take 13 of 18 to pass them.

With that game the only one in the National League program yesterday, the situation was left like this:

Club	W	L	Pct.
Pittsburgh	78	58	.582
Chicago	76	60	.559
Cincinnati	75	61	.551
New York	75	62	.547

Yankees Tripped. The New York Yankees were tripped, 6-4, by Detroit in the American League headliner, but, although beaten, Gehrig and Company was left needing only three victories to clinch the pennant.

GOLF CHAMPION WILL TURN OUT AS A DARK HORSE

Crown - Defender Goodman Meets Catastrophe In Quarter-Finals

Oakmont, Pa., Sept. 16.—(AP)—There is no time like the present to get acquainted with the next national amateur golf champion even though his name won't be known before the middle of tomorrow afternoon.

Introductions are in order because few persons ever heard of the four semi-finalists who scrambled around Oakmont's grass and sand today after the most devastating slaughter of favorites the championship has known.

Pat Abbott, a 25-year-old Hollywood movie extra now "at liberty" in the parlance of his craft, remained in the upper bracket along with a rich Connecticut Yankee named Richard Chapman, who at 27 is the oldest contender left.

Ed Kingsley, 23-year-old ore sampler at a copper mine in Magna, Utah, opposed Willie Turnesa, a New York City youth of the same age, whose name you are more likely to recognize because of the achievements of his golfing older brothers than of his own.

Nevertheless, he is the competitive veteran of the quartet. A good-looking little 130-pounder with black wavy hair, he was graduated three months ago from Holy Cross university. He won the metropolitan amateur championship last year and has held the New England intercollegiate title three times, but never went far in national competition.

Kingsley is a cheerful, chubby golfer who can give and take in the old razz-matazz of match play. This bespectacled westerner who started out as a caddy ten years ago surprised Charley Yates, Atlanta's British amateur king, Wednesday.

Third Amateur. It's his third amateur although he never remained in the spotlights long enough to get klieg eyes.

Abbott won the National public links championship two years ago without getting quite so much attention as his fellow townsman, Doug Corrigan. So he decided to take a crack at the national amateur, the movie extra business being what it is.

Chapman has taken part in five amateur tournaments but never before reached even the first match play round. Rich and social, he beat the more rich and more social T. Sufferin' (Tommy) Teller in one of his matches yesterday.

This was as negligible as a shadow in the dark of night compared with the catastrophe he dealt defending Champion Johnny Goodman in the quarter finals later in the day.

ROYALTY AT FUNERAL. London, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Prince Arthur of Connaught, grandson of Queen Victoria and cousin of the late King George V, was buried today with full military honors in historic St. George's chapel at Windsor Castle. He died Monday at the age of 55.

King George and the Duke of Kent headed a procession from Windsor station to the chapel through Windsor village after a 21-gun salute.

since Boston's second place Red Sox managed only a split with Cleveland in a pair of 2-2 decisions. The Indians won the opener on Jeff Heath's homer, and the Sox took the afterpiece on Fritz Ostermuller's six-hitter.

The Athletics and Chicago White Sox also broke even, the Sox coming through 5-4 in the first game and George Caster pitching a four-hit, 1-0, win in the second. Sam West's two-run single gave the Senators a 6-4 edge over the St. Louis Browns.

Bits of Gossip of Sports Picked Up by AP Writer

By EDDIE BRIETZ

New York, Sept. 16.—(AP)—The Pirates were one jittery bunch when they pulled out for Beantown last night. Reason Sammy Sneed isn't going to tour the Argentine with Paul Runyan and Jug McSpaden is that his mom put her foot down on Sammy making the trip by plane. Old Babe Ruth is hobbling around Ed-bets Field with a broken bone in his big toe. The Reds are adding 4,500 seats to their plant next year which looks like the recession is here for fair—nit.

Gus Mancuso may bob up as first string catcher for the Cubs next year and you're liable to see big Johnny Mize from St. Louis on first base for the same crew. Max Baer does a very smart bit of acting in "Fisticuffs" his latest short. Art Fletcher, Yankee coach, carries a watch on the field to see that the club is not cheated in batting and fielding practice. He has a special pocket sewed in his monkey suit.

Before leaving St. Louis Frankie Frisch visited the Card front office and shook hands with both Sam Bronckowicz and Branch Rickey. "Next Card manager will have two strikes on him before he starts," opines Frankie, "unless he let him run the nine."

Fifteen members of the Chicago Bears were entering the National football league. Burt Shotton, now a member of the chain gang, has the inside track for Cardinal manager Ray Blakes of Rochester running second. If the Cards don't watch out, Shotton for Brooklyn may sign up Shotton for Brooklyn. He is that sold on the fellow.

DELEGATES OF AM. MED. ASSN. MEET

Will Scrutinize Proposed Federal-State Health Program Methods

Chicago, Sept. 16.—(AP)—The House of Delegates of the American Medical Association gathered today for its third special session in history and indicated strongly it would not accept wholeheartedly an entirely a proposed $850,000,000 federal-state health program.

At a special meeting last night sponsored by the North Side branch of the Chicago Medical Society several speakers among the 160 delegates made it plain they do not consider the program, proposed two months ago by President Roosevelt's inter-departmental committee on medical care, a workable one.

Dr. Olin West, secretary of the association, and Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the association's Journal, outlined the program as proposed at the national health conference in July. The conference, they declared, was definitely antagonistic toward the medical profession and the association.

However, both declared, the proposal for a nation-wide health program financed out of taxes from federal and state funds "is of the greatest importance" and must be discussed thoroughly until the delegates arrive at a decision which will guide the association in its efforts to provide adequate medical care for everyone.

To Scrutinize Methods
"No man could challenge the objectives laid down by the president's committee," Dr. West declared, "but the methods by which they are to be accomplished must be scrutinized carefully."

The health program proposed by Roosevelt's committee called for a 50-50 matching of state and federal funds to pay the cost of medical care for the indigent; establish 500 small hospitals in rural areas; maintain free hospital beds; and finance medical research.

This plan, government and private proponents contended, is similar to the present federal cancer program, the $8,000,000 health program under the social security act, and the venereal disease control plan.

In addition to the proposed national health program the delegates may discuss department

Washington, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Senator Herring (D-Iowa) disclosed today that treasury experts and aides of a special senate committee were trying to devise tax alterations which would encourage development of industrial profit-sharing.

Such a levy, he said, might exempt from corporation income taxes from portions of profits handed over to employees.

SENATOR GEORGE GIVEN OVATION

Blacklisted Senator is Also Congratulated by Jim Farley

Atlanta, Sept. 16.—(AP)—United States Senator Walter F. George, renominated by a wide margin for another six-year term despite the expressed opposition of President Roosevelt, said today "the great Democrats" would be quick to cast aside bitterness of the campaign just ended "and work for the party and its principles."

Complete unofficial returns from all but one of Georgia's 159 counties in Wednesday's primary gave the veteran senator 141,922 popular votes and 246 county unit votes compared with 102,464 popular votes and 148 unit votes for his nearest rival, former Governor Eugene Talmadge.

Federal District Attorney Lawrence S. Camp, strongly endorsed by the president as a man better fitted to carry on the new deal, was third with 78,223 popular votes and 16 unit votes.

Under the Georgia system a total of 206 county unit votes are necessary for nomination, regardless of the popular vote. Nomination is equivalent to election.

Given Ovation
Replying to an ovation at his headquarters here last night George made no direct reference to the president, who marked him for defeat as "a died-in-the-wool conservative" who did not speak the new deal language.

Earlier in the day George received a telegram, signed by James A. Farley, which read: "May I, as chairman of the Democratic national committee, extend congratulations upon your nomination. Your election, of course, is assured. Writing."

Final results in a race for governor, also bitterly fought in Wednesday's primary, gave Governor E. D. Rivers a popular vote of 161,349 and a unit vote of 282. Hugh Howell 135,646 popular votes and 126 unit votes, John J. Mangham 20,161 and 2 unit votes, and Robert F. Wood, 2,003 popular votes and no unit votes.

FOREIGN MONEY SENT HERE FOR SAFE-GUARDING

Washington, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Secretary Morgenthau disclosed that the European crisis has caused the "largest flight to the dollar in history."

The treasury head declined to estimate the amount of foreign funds sent here for safe-keeping but figures on recent treasury gold acquisitions indicated several hundred million dollars of foreign cash had arrived in the past few weeks.

"This movement proves," Morgenthau declared, "that the United States is the financial center of the world and can resist the kind of nervousness that people with money fear, x x x."

"There is no reason for alarm over this movement. If people want to send money here for refuge, we are glad to accommodate them."

The secretary said he was in constant touch by trans-Atlantic telephone and cable with the financial authorities of England, France, Belgium, Switzerland and the Netherlands for the purpose of cooperating with them as signatories of the 1936 tri-partite monetary agreement in stabilizing international exchange.

During 1936, 90,938 boys and 76,762 girls were born in England.

Y. P. M. C. MEETING

The Young People's Missionary Circle of the Evangelical church will meet in the church basement next Monday evening, Sept. 19, at 7:30 o'clock. Ralph Kurth will have charge of the devotion and Miss Faye Schaefer will give the lesson study. The usual business meeting will be held, followed by a social hour. All members and friends of the circle are invited to attend.

85th BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Lillian Vogel, one of Ashton's oldest citizens was privileged to celebrate her 85th birthday on Wednesday of this week. At the noon hour her son, Mr. and Mrs. Edison Vogel and family enjoyed dinner with her at her home. During the afternoon many friends called to extend best wishes bringing flowers and fruit with them. Mrs. Vogel also received many birthday cards. At the supper hour, Mrs. Vogel's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Lovell, were her supper guests. Arletta Mae Lovell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lovell attends high school and lives with her grandmother.

During the summer months Mrs. Vogel has not been in the best of health and regretted the fact very much that she was not able to attend church services. She is a member of the Methodist church and the Good Will Circle Sunday school class and was a faithful attendant at services when her health permitted. Her many friends will be glad to know that at present she is improving and hope that she may soon take her usual place in the various activities of the church.

Mrs. Vogel has been a reader of the Telegraph for many years and looks forward each evening to receiving her paper and reading it.

JACOBS PROMOTES FIGHTS FOR THE MID-WEST TITLE

New York, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Mike Jacobs, the mahout of the fight business, has started to untangle the middleweight class by matching Fred Apostoli and not-so-young Corbett, 3rd, for 15 rounds on November 18 in Madison Square Garden.

Jacobs roundly proclaims the fight will be for "the middleweight championship of the world." He may have the New York State Athletic commission to back him up. The commission does not like Al Hostak, who apparently won the title when he knocked out Freddy Steele July 26.

The solons declared the title vacant then and gave a rousing call for contenders. They wanted Hostak and Apostoli, but apparently they are not going to get them, not right away anyway. Corbett will fill in and if Mike can convince them it is a championship bout the commission might recognize the winner as titleholder.

Young Corbett, 3rd, he's 33, is an ex-champion of the division. He plumped himself in the middle of the class by beating Apostoli on the coast last February in a 10-rounder.

Despite this beating Apostoli was considered the No. 1 middleweight until Hostak belted Steele out in a round.

afternoon and returned with Miss Minetta Schaefer who will visit here a few days. Miss Minetta will depart for Cleveland, Ohio, Sunday evening where she will resume her studies at Western Reserve University. She is majoring in social sciences and preparing herself to teach in a nurse's training school. Miss Schaefer has spent the greater part of the summer months in Freeport.

Mrs. Melvin Haeseler and daughter, Louise of Mt. Vernon, Iowa, have been guests this week at the home of Mrs. Haeseler's sister, Mrs. O. K. Thompson and family. This afternoon the Thompson family accompanied their guests to Mt. Vernon and will spend the week-end there visiting relatives.

Miss Winnogene Knapp spent yesterday in Chicago, a combined business and pleasure trip. She enjoyed a short visit with Mrs. E. F. Baker and returned home last evening making the trip on the train.

Mrs. Alice Lake Switzer and three sons, Buddy, Jack and Teddy of Pasadena, Calif., are making an extended visit at the home of Mrs. Switzer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lake. They motored here from the west and on the way visited Zion National Park, Boulder Dam, the Royal Gorge and Grand Canyon. Two of the sons have enrolled in the local grade school.

Several improvements are being made in the Presbyterian manse. A new all electric kitchen is being built, which will be equipped with a new sink and cupboards. The bathroom has been modernized and repairs made on the furnace. These improvements will add much to the convenience and comfort of the pastor and his family.

Edwin Danner, who has spent the summer months at the Reynolds parsonage with his sister, Mrs. George A. Walter and husband has resumed his duties as the head of the biology department in Western Union college at Le Mars, Iowa.

Puerto Rican, opens the Garden's fall season tonight by taking on Jimmy Garrison, Kansas City's smart lightweight, in a 10-round bout.

Montanez is in a strange position. He has lost only one fight in 35 outings but that was to Lou Ambers after a terrific build-up. He is on the make in the division, pointing for a bout with Henry Armstrong, the current champion.

The geographical center of North America is located a few miles west of Devil's Lake, Pierce county, North Dakota.

"SWABBER" ROW" IS CENTRALIA'S BUSIEST PLACE

Centralia, Ill., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Want to drill an oil well? Want to have one drilled? Buy a lease? Sell a lease? Swap a lease? Dig a slush pit?

Even if you want to look up an oil field acquaintance, the place to look is the curbstone market, "Swabber's Row," in front of a downtown hotel in this oil boom city.

All day and far into the night, men in every garb from spats and pince-nez to the inevitable tan shirt and trousers of the derrick "roughneck" crowd the sidewalk and overflow into the hotel lobby and bar.

They study maps. Sometimes they stop in the middle of the street to study them, while automobile horns squawk in protest. Nearly everybody mills through the throng, looking for somebody. Frequently one will rush into the lobby or the bar, map under his arm, peering into the booths. If someone hails him, the busy fellow will return an absent glance, mutter "got to see a fellow," and bounce out in another direction.

In the lobby and the bar they huddle in groups, with maps spread over their laps or the table. Here many of the fantastic deals, bringing sudden wealth or disappointment, are transacted.

Maybe you hold a lease on a small bit of acreage in the midst of a new development. Here is a place you can barter, sometimes grabbing 10 times what you paid for a bit of land a few weeks back.

If you want to drill a well, here you frequently can find a crew. If you want to buy some surface pipe, or other piece of the amazing paraphernalia with which oil wells are sunk, here's a place to look.

If you want to see your boss and tell him you've cornered the directors of the country school for a discussion of their lease at 2 P. M., here's where you'll find him.

It's become such a meeting place that the hotel, swamped with telephone calls, has installed a loud speaker system from the switchboard to the bar, where, by the minute, a stentorian squawk will summon an oil scout to talk to his office in Tulsa.

The busy sidewalk also is a gathering place for the workers. Here they can expect to run into a scout or derrick roughneck they haven't seen since Oklahoma, Texas, Louisiana or California.

The Bible contains two chapters which are nearly alike, word for word. They are the 19th chapter of II Kings and the 37th chapter of Isaiah.

Saturday afternoon at 3 P. M. at the Lake Park Lutheran church in Milwaukee, Wis. Miss Patricia Evans was wed to Theodore Bruner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bruner. The bride wore an antique green wool frock with a bolero jacket of sable. Her accessories were brown and her flowers were orchids. Betty Lenoore Conner of DeKalb, who served as her cousin's maid of honor, wore a squirrel jacket with her navy blue frock. Her flowers were also orchids. Kenneth Bruner was best man for his brother. A reception at North Shore Country club followed the service. After a motor trip east, the young couple will live at 1504 North Prospect avenue, Milwaukee, Wis. Attending from Mt. Morris were the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bruner, his sisters and husbands, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Kable and Mr. and Mrs. William Miller and brothers, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bruner and James Bruner.

HERE AND THERE.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Zundahl and family, the latter's mother, Mrs. Lydia Snyder attended the Brethren church in Adeline Sunday where Finn Murra of Alabama was a guest speaker. Finn Murra worked for the Snyders when a boy and was glad to renew acquaintances with Mr. and Mrs. Snyder and daughter.

Mrs. Cameron Findley entertained the members of her bridge club Thursday evening.

Eddie Webster went to Urbana Thursday where he enrolled as freshman at the University of Illinois.

Miss Doris Marsh and her father, O. F. Marsh, drove to Ames, Iowa, Wednesday, where Doris enrolled at the Iowa state college.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Rees sent cards from San Francisco, Calif., this week, stating that they are greatly enjoying their western vacation trip.

Decatur Defeated by Moline Last Evening

Moline, Ill., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Moline had the satisfaction today of knowing that Decatur can be beaten in the Three-Eye League playoff finals even if it takes a ninth-inning rally to turn the trick.

Murray Dickson held the Plows scoreless for six innings last night while his mates jugged away to a two-run lead in the third frame. The Plows got one in the seventh—their first in 16 innings off Commie pitching—but Decatur scored again in their half of the ninth.

Then came the rally. Barney Olson, Glyn Gibson and Tommy Nelson singled and the Plows had another run. Howard Berg replaced Dickson. He walked pitcher Whitley Steimling to load the bases. Joe Cavoise, who got the only Plow hit off Allyn Stout Wednesday night, smashed a hit off Berg's glove into right field to drive in the winning runs.

The series stood two to one in Decatur's favor today.

A new type of amphibian plane featuring a Zeppelin-type gear-drive propeller, connected to a 125 h. p. engine mounted in its hull by means of an extension shaft, has recently been developed. The plane has a wingspan of 40 feet and an overall length of 26 feet.

The altitude of the north star always is the same as the latitude of the observer.

WPA WORKERS OF STATE MUST REPORT EARNINGS

Chicago, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Charles E. Miner, state administrator, ordered 255,000 WPA workers in Illinois today to report all outside earnings.

"A return must be filed as of September 30 for the three months period immediately preceding by every employee to show the amount earned and where derived," Miner said. "If no outside income, the worker must so state. Failure to file will result in dismissal. Falsification of a return is punishable by not more than a $2,000 fine, or two years in jail, or both."

Although congress required the report only from certified workers, Miner has directed that all employees file it. The report will be required quarterly.

In explaining his order, Miner said:

"To rule that no outside work could be done would tend to freeze WPA workers in their jobs, but if a WPA worker is making as much on the outside as he is getting from us he most certainly should, as a matter of justice, good citizenship and common honesty, leave his WPA job and make room for the man who is not able to work."

"The reporting of other income," Miner said, "does not mean a lay-off from WPA unless it is as much or more than the individual's wages."

ANSWER: Caracara.

THE ARCTIC hares of the far north have developed special features to help them meet the sterner conditions of life in that country. Mother Nature has given them larger, stronger bodies than the more southerly species, as well as heavier fur, special tooth development, and large claws for digging.

THE CLOUDED MOON

By MAX SALTmarsh

The Characters
Hugo Stern, handsome author, living on the French Riviera.
Archie Lumsden, myself, Hugo's friend.
Rene Geiss, head of a murder conspiracy.

Yesterday: Jean-Francois locates Baron Stahl's yacht and gets a job aboard it. Noah More tries to push me off a crowded bus, but an Arab working for Dunning saves me.

Chapter 35

Toothpicks for Two

The cafe was a vast sea of crowded tables, set out under a canopy of trees. Hugo was sitting at a table on the outer fringe.

"Well," I said, as I dropped into the vacant chair beside him. "I've had a quiet day, but the evening promises to be livelier, if one can judge by the advance sample I've just had."

For answer he kicked me sharply on the ankle, motioning impatiently towards a man seated with his back to us at the next table. I bit back an exclamation, for the fellow had raised his glass to his lips, and I saw that the index finger of the hand that held it was missing from the first joint.

Hugo's eyes met mine, but neither spoke a word, and so for a matter of twenty minutes we sat there, exchanging the most ultra-banal of small talk. Then, suddenly, things began to shift.

I noticed, gliding through the throng on the pavement, a tall Negress, in a crisp, white cotton dress, with a snowy muslin turban folded flatly about her small head. She was a splendid-looking creature, moving with a free untrammelled grace, but there was a purpose in her movements, for as I looked, she turned sharp left, threading her way among the tables, and with a murmured word of apology sat down in the vacant seat opposite my neighbor.

He glanced up at her without the slightest sign of recognition. The Negress settled herself at the table, reached forward and helped herself to one of the little paper-wrapped toothpicks from the china container before her.

For a moment she sat there idly twisting it between her fingers, then, to my surprise, instead of stripping off the flimsy covering, she started to thrust it into the bosom of her dress, changed her mind apparently, and replaced it in the little china pot. It was a pointless action, but its very meaninglessness made me suddenly on the alert. I glanced at Hugo and saw that he had noticed nothing.

A waiter passed, scurrying, and the Negress called him and gave him her order. At the same moment the man opposite her threw a couple of coins on the table, yawned ostentatiously, and got to his feet; but as he did so, he stooped and in his turn, with an absent-minded air, extracted a toothpick from the container. Then he turned and slowly sauntered away in the direction of the harbor.

"Come on," I said to Hugo. "I've had enough of this." He glanced up sharply, caught the look in my eye, and rose to his feet. "What's the trouble?" he whispered as he followed me down the narrow aisle to the pavement.

"The trouble," said I, "is walking just ahead," and in half a dozen words I told him what had happened. "It's my bet that a message passed from hand to hand, snugly tucked away in that toothpick."

He whistled. "What do you propose to do?"

"Catch him in some dark spot and take the toothpick off him," I answered blithely.

"That's coming out into the open with a vengeance! If it could be arranged, I'd prefer something more subtle." And even as he spoke, Providence itself answered him.

A Mission

I cannoned into a dim figure in flowing white robes, which promptly laid a hand on my arm. "Monsieur," it whispered, "you have had no further trouble?"

It was the Arab carpet-seller, and at sight of him I gave a gasp of relief. "Tell me," I said, catching him by the shoulder and drawing him on with us, "you work for Monsieur Dunning?"

"Indeed, yes!" he murmured. "Good enough!" said I. "Now, listen! I've a job for you. You see that man ahead—in the white shirt and trousers, who is now crossing the square towards the jetty? You must follow him, see where he goes, and report to Monsieur Dunning. Tell him it is the man without a finger and he will understand. Also," I broke off hesitating how to broach a delicate subject, "there is a small matter of a toothpick which he carries in his right-hand trouser-pocket. Is it possible that, under pretext of offering him a carpet, one might purloin that toothpick and convey it to Monsieur Dunning?"

He gave me a swift nod and departed. "And where," said Hugo patiently as I turned back to him, "did you find that addition to the League of Nations?"

"Draw up your stool to Uncle's knee," I retorted benevolently. "And I'll tell you," for I was feeling fairly pleased with myself. But as we drove home and I unfolded the tale, I detected a certain unresponsiveness in its reception.

"It's immensely exciting," he said, "but all it establishes when boiled down is the fact that Geiss won't rest until he's done you in, and if you find that a comforting thought to sleep on, you may have it!"

"I did sleep on it very comfortably notwithstanding, but at six next morning I woke to find Hugo sitting on the edge of my bed."

"I can't sleep," he said abruptly. "And I therefore don't see why you should either. Look here, Archie. Do you realize that this is Saturday? In twenty-four hours the game starts, and we're as far as ever from knowing how they mean to play it. I can't stand it, I tell you!" He broke off and stood up suddenly, as if the mere physical movement eased his nerves. "It's not only Virgilio Willis, but who knows what they may do to that fool of a girl, if she tries any more of her precious detective work?"

"Steady, old man," said I. "Try to realize that there's nothing we can do." But he shook his head impatiently.

"If I don't do something, I'll go mad. I'm off to have another shot at finding out what Amourie is. I've got an idea that I can pick up some information on the other side of the frontier. It's just possible that it may be some place near Rakovsky's villa."

"I think it's an uncommonly sound idea," I assured him. "Do you want me to come along?"

"No," he answered more calmly. "It's essential that someone should be here in case anything crops up. Jean-Francois may have stumbled on something, or Dunning, or even—" he hesitated—"the girl, I'll telephone at midday and hear if there's any news, and I suggest that you call a conference for, say, six thirty, here. I'll be back by then, and we can pool every possible shred of information we have and try to work out a plan."

The Message

I accepted my orders the more readily because I could think of nothing better to suggest, but when I tried to ring up Dunning, I was told that he had just gone out; Otilie was not to be found either, and I had perforce to leave a message for the big man, inviting him and Miss Willis to cocktails at the chalet at six thirty.

Dunning's vast white figure lumbered round the angle of the terrace promptly at the time set. "Where's Otilie?" I asked, as I helped him to a drink.

"Hasn't she come yet? She said she'd drive herself, for she was taking lunch with friends in Monte Carlo, but she surely won't be long."

"Well," I said, "Hugo's not here either, so we're not wasting any time." But even as I spoke, the telephone rang within the house, and when I sprinted to answer it I heard Hugo's voice at the other end.

"I'm here," he said, "and I'm alive and well, to save you the trouble of anguished questioning, but I'm no nearer finding what I came to seek, and I've had a darned near shave of being turned into a superior kind of sandwich paste."

"The deuce you have," I gasped, and heard him chuckle.

"My own fault entirely," he admitted. "All due to asking too many questions in the local inn and not keeping an eye skinned when I drove up the road to Rakovsky's villa. A very pretty avalanche of rock crashed down on the track, not five yards ahead of me, and if my brakes hadn't been working, it would have been farewell for me. As it was, I found I'd struck a boulder that knocked a hole in the oil-pump. Even temporary repairs will take the devil of a time, and it'll be nearly midnight before I'm on the road again, so you'll have to do your conferring without me."

I strolled back to Dunning. "We're resolved into a committee of two," I informed him. "Hugo's spent the last two days running around after this precious Amourie," I added, "and what good it will do us when he finds it the Lord may know, but I certainly don't."

He looked at me oddly. "I'm not so sure of that," he drawled. "Am I right in supposing that you encountered an Arab on the quay last night and gave him a job to do? Well he did the job very nicely. He followed your fingerless friends out along the jetty. Our gentleman paused opposite the good ship Rendezvous, and for a moment it seemed he was going aboard. The yacht was dark except for her riding-lights, and the rope was across her gangway, but he gave a hail, and presently a head bobbed up. 'Master aboard?' says he, or words to that effect, but the head shook itself. 'Oh, well,' says he, 'if he wants his news, he must cross the border for it. I can't wait.'"

"My henchman trailed him to the place by the town hall where the cars are parked, and he saw his man halt by a big limousine. He pattered up and 'Nice carpet, sar?' says he. 'Go to Hades,' said the other, but our Arab hung onto his ram, pleading with him, and all the time, under cover of the carpets, his other hand was busy in the fellow's pockets. Next minute he received a well-placed kick but by that time he'd got kicked he was after, and here it is." And with that he tossed me a small, rather battered quill on the table. I picked it up and gingerly withdrew the crumpled twist of paper that it contained, but as I spread it out and stared at the single word roughly printed upon it, once again I felt that old, hopeless sinking of the heart. "L'Amourie!"
